

Automotive logistics

Support for the whole vehicle, through its entire lifecycle

Kuehne+Nagel has solutions for every part of the automotive supply chain. Suppliers benefit from inbound logistics. OEM's make use of production logistics. After-market suppliers can take advantage of outbound logistics and after-sales service.

Service modules are specifically designed with the automotive industry in mind. Get access to a global logistics network, the latest technology, and a team of experts who understand the automotive industry.

Our digital strategy keeps pace with supply chains that include infrastructure for fuel cells, electric, and self-driving vehicles within a 5G network.

Shared and dedicated facilities are strategically located throughout North America. Products can be positioned where and when you need them most.

Automotive logistics

Through a combination of forwarding services and integrated solutions, actions happen simultaneously at different points in the supply chain. With myKN, you can continuously track every order with full visibility 24/7.

Get improved service levels and traceability. Reduce transportation and warehousing costs as well as inventory levels.

Finished Vehicle logistics

Designed for customers from the automotive industry, particularly OEMs. It responds to the increasing need for more reliability and confidentiality for complete build units (CBU), exclusive prototypes, and finished vehicles.

After sales services

Our distribution networks and facilities operate with fully automated warehouse equipment. Dealers receive the support necessary to keep customers satisfied.
